

Privacy Policy – The Melody Maker

1. Who I am

I am The Melody Maker, a self-employed musician providing live music in care homes. If you have any questions about this policy, you can contact me using the details I gave you for bookings.

2. The information I collect

I collect and use:

- Your name and job title
- The name, address and contact details of your care home
- Your work email address and work phone number
- Basic details about bookings (dates, times, fees, invoices, and any special notes needed to run the event safely and smoothly).

3. Why I use your information (lawful basis)

I use your information so that I can:

- Take bookings, confirm dates and times, and manage my schedule
- Provide and manage my music services for your care home
- Send invoices, handle payments and keep tax records
- Respond to questions, feedback or complaints
- Let you know about future availability or services you might reasonably expect to hear about.

I process your information because it is necessary to perform our contract (or to take steps before entering into one), and to meet my legal obligations such as tax and accounting. If I ever rely on your consent (for example, for optional email marketing beyond what you'd reasonably expect from our relationship), I will ask for it clearly, and you can withdraw it at any time.

4. Who I share your information with

I do not sell your personal information.

I may share your information only with:

- Service providers who help me run my business, such as email, calendar, accounting and cloud storage providers
- Professional advisers such as an accountant or legal adviser if needed.

These providers only have access to the information they need to do their job and must keep it secure.

5. Where I store it and how long I keep it

I store information on secure devices and reputable cloud services that use appropriate security measures, such as passwords and encryption. I take reasonable steps to keep your information safe and to limit access to it.

I keep booking and invoice information for as long as required by UK tax and accounting rules (normally up to 7 years after the end of the tax year). I keep basic contact details for as long as I have an ongoing relationship with your care home, or until you ask me to delete them where the law allows.

6. Your rights

Under UK data protection law, you have rights over your personal information, including the right to:

- Ask for a copy of the information I hold about you
- Ask me to correct information that is wrong or incomplete
- Ask me to delete or restrict how I use your information in some circumstances
- Object to certain types of use, including direct marketing
- Complain to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) if you are unhappy with how I handle your data.

You can find out more about your rights, and how to contact the ICO, at www.ico.org.uk

If you would like to use any of these rights, please contact me using my usual booking contact details.

7. Changes to this policy

I may update this privacy policy from time to time to reflect changes in how I work or in the law. If the changes are important, I will take reasonable steps to let you know.
